ITCHING PILES.

The Price of Cuticura No Account

I was taken for the first time in my life with Blind Piles, so severe that I could hardly keep on my feet. I used various remedies for three weeks, when the disease took the form of Itching Piles, and growing worse. By advice of an old gentleman I tried the CUTICURA. One application relieved the itching, and I was soon cured. I would not take the world if it is a case of itching, and the price of the CUTICURA is of no account. From an unsolicited quarter. D. C. ## Barrios' Assumption Frowned upon by the Senate.

POLICY OF THE UNITED STATES.

The Interests of American Citizens to be Protected—Hazen Speaks in Self Defense—Cleveland's First State Reception.

Senate

WASHINGTON, March 17.—Blair's resolution authorizing the committee on education and labor to sit during recess was adopted.

Cullom's resolution for a select committee to investigate the subject of inter-state commerce was laid before the senate, and after a long debate adopted without division. It provides for a select committee of five senators to sit during recess and make full examination of the regulation of transportation of freight and passengers between the several states by railroads and water routes in connection or competition herewith, and report to the next December.

The senate then went into executive session.

EXECUTIVE SESSION.

WASHINGTON, March 17.—The nomination of Joseph S. Miller to be commissioner of internal revenue vice Walter Evans, sent to the senate yesterday, was reported favorably from the senate committee on finance to-day and taken up in executive session. The point was made that Evans had not resigned. This gave rise to a discussion, during which a message was received from the president renominating Mr. Miller vice Walter Evans, to be removed, and withdrawing the nomination of yesterday.

During subsequent proceedings it was developed that Evans told the secretary of the treasury that he would resign whenever the secretary wished. Evans, it was explained, supposed he would be allowed [illegible] while Secretary Manning understood the expression of willingness to resign was a resignation in fact.

The republican senators said there was no intention to antagonize the administration in this regard, and expressed the opinion that the position of commissioner of internal revenue was one which ought to be filled by a man of the president's choice, but they thought injustice had been done Evans in not giving him an opportunity to resign. The nomination was referred to the finance committee.

Discussion of Central American affairs, begun yesterday, was then resumed, the pending question being the resolution offered Friday by Edmunds declaring it to be the sense of the senate that Barrios, president of Guatemala, should be prevented from carrying out his scheme of annexing neighboring republics. The resolution was criticised as amounting substantially to a declaration of war, and Senator Ingalls proposed an amendment to modify it in this regard. The amendment was lost. The senate then adopted the resolution with only one negative vote.

Senator Edmunds moved that the injunction of secrecy be removed from the resolution, but a single objection carried it over, and it therefore lies for a day.

When the doors reopened the senate adjourned.

BARRIOS' ASSUMPTION.

Secretary Bayard Imparts All Information Possessed by the State Department

WASHINGTON, March 17.—Secretary Bayard has written a letter to Senator Miller, chairman of the senate committee on foreign relations, giving him all the information possessed by the state department concerning Barrios' movement. The first intimation received by the department in regard to the revolutionary movement was a telegram from Barrios to the president announcing that he had assumed the title of supreme military chief, and that the minister of foreign relations of Guatemala would soon come to Washington. Later dispatches were received stating that the republics of San Salvador, Nicaragua and Costa Rica would resist Barrios and are requesting interference of the United States government. A telegram from Hall, United States minister to Central America, reported that Honduras was an active party to the Barrios movement. Upon these representations the state department sent dispatches to Minister Hall at Guatemala, instructing him that this government, while believing voluntary union of the Central American states desirable, would not countenance a display of force by any one of those states to coerce others, and the United States stands ready to exert its influence to avert conflict. [illegible] Similar messages were sent the governments of Nicaragua and San Salvador, and like assurances given them in reply to [illegible] from Costa Rica with respect to [illegible]. No communication has been received from or sent to the government of Honduras.

The Mexican minister here conferred with Secretary Bayard as to the course taken by Mexico, and was informed that this government would use all its moral influence and lend its good offices to prevent the destruction of the autonomy of the Central American states, and to this end would be glad to have the co-operation of Mexico.

LATER INFORMATION.

Later but unofficial details state that on the 10th instant a Guatemalan expeditionary movement against San Salvador was stopped, and Barrios asked the president of San Salvador to send two commissioners to arrange a settlement.

Secretary Bayard further states that Senor Batres, minister from San Salvador at this capital, has been deprived of his mission because of his association with the movement of Barrios, and a new minister will soon be sent here.

Orders given naval vessels for the protection of American interests in Central America are given in detail, and the secretary expresses an opinion that no obligation to interfere rests upon this government under any treaties with the states involved. The department has no information that any foreign power has interfered or contemplates interference in the present difficulties in Central America.

In conclusion Mr. Bayard says: "This government cannot countenance any measure subversive of the free autonomy of any of these sister states, and believing the moral influence and good offices of the United States can be made a potential agency in the preservation of peace, he is unable to suggest any action of the senate."

The dispatch from the president of San Salvador alluded to in Mr. Bayard's letter states that Barrios is trying to enforce a Central American union with the avowed purpose of annulling the canal treaty with Nicaragua.

PROTECTING PROPERTY IN CENTRAL AMERICA.

NEW YORK, March 17.—James R. Beard, secretary of the Central and South American Telegraph Company, states that he has received advices to the effect that the authorities of Mexico, San Salvador and Nicaragua have posted guards at the cable landings of this company, and the following telegram from Secretary of State Bayard shows that the United States government is determined to protect American property in [illegible]:

WASHINGTON, March 17.

J. A. SCRYMSER, president of the Central and South American Telegraph Company, New York: A telegram was to-day sent to the United States legation at Guatemala holding that republic responsible for injuries by its authority, or with its connivance, to cables or other interests of United States citizens in Central America. The Wachusett is now en route to La Union, duly instructed.

BAYARD.

ORDERS FOR THE WACHUSETT.

WASHINGTON, March 17.—Secretary Whitney to-day sent a dispatch to Commander Mahan of the Wachusett, at Panama, informing him that hostilities are likely to take place between some Central American states and Barrios, which will endanger the lives and property of citizens of the United States, and directing him to proceed with his vessel to La Union and La Libertad, and other ports on the Central American coast, to protect American interests. The secretary also directs Commander Mahan to protest against any attempt to interfere with the use of cables, and to take all proper means to protect the health of his officers and men from disease which would render it necessary for the vessel to leave the coast.

WASHINGTON NEWS ITEMS.

THE HAZEN COURT MARTIAL.

WASHINGTON, March 17.—The examination of General Hazen was continued to-day before the court martial. He testified that the newspaper interview complained of was [illegible] and that he was not aware he was being interviewed with a view to publication. There was a decided sensation in the court when General Hazen, with great feeling, said: "I had [illegible] the responsibility for the decisions of the [illegible] I have no power [illegible] the responsibility [illegible] I have sought in the department to help them out. I was ready to [illegible] the Neptune was not sent, and congress was [illegible] appropriation for it. I [illegible] on my own responsibility. I would have done the same thing, [illegible] if I had been permitted to do it."

Nothing important was elicited up to the time the court adjourned.

WASHINGTON NOTES.

WASHINGTON, March 17.—The secretary of the navy has secured the services of a professional accountant of New York for the purpose of having a thorough investigation made of the accounts and methods of keeping them in every branch of the navy department.

There will probably be a considerable reduction in the number of postoffice inspectors the current month.

It is expected that the vacancy in the office of superintendent of the United States mint at Carson City will be filled to-morrow by the nomination of William Girard, of Nevada.

General Black, new commissioner of pensions, to-day assumed charge of the pension office.

CLEVELAND'S FIRST STATE RECEPTION.

WASHINGTON, March 17.—The first state reception given by President Cleveland was given to-night to the diplomatic corps, judiciary, army and navy and senate and house of representatives. It was one of the most brilliant affairs of the kind ever held in the White house. The president was assisted by Miss Cleveland, Mrs. Hoyt, Miss Bayard, Mrs. Manning, Mrs. Endicott, Mrs. Whitney, Mrs. Vilas and Mrs. Lamont. He received the guests in the Blue room. All members of the cabinet except Attorney-General Garland were present. Mr. Bayard presented members of the diplomatic corps.

ARTHUR TO BE DINED.

NEW YORK, March 17.—Hugh N. Camp, of New York, is at Washington, and is deputized to invite Ex-President Arthur to dine at Delmonico's any evening he may select with business men of New York. The list of names includes William H. Vanderbilt, John Jacob Astor, Cornelius Bliss, Jackson S. Schultz and all the money kings of New York. The Philadelphia list includes Drexel and George W. Childs.

THE OKLAHOMA BOOMERS.

WASHINGTON, March 17.—General Hatch telegraphs that Couch still threatens to invade the Indian territory, but his strength will not exceed 600 should he attempt it.

TO-DAY'S WEATHER.

WASHINGTON, March 17.—Pacific coast: generally fair weather, followed during the night on the north Pacific coast by local rains.

CALIFORNIA.

SUPREME COURT COMMISSIONERS.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 17.—The supreme court has appointed under the late act the following supreme court commissioners: W. W. Cope, San Francisco; I. S. Belcher, Marysville, and Jackson Temple, Sonoma. The duties of the commissioners are briefly these: Certain cases will be referred to them; they will consider and present their decisions in writing to the court for revision and indorsement, which, when done, becomes the law of the case. They hold office for a term of four years and receive a salary of $6000 a year, the same as justices of the supreme court.

SLATER'S CHANCES DISPOSED OF.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 17.—The Chronicle's Washington special says: Congressman Henley called on Secretary Lamar to lay with some others [illegible] to urge the appointment of Willey as commissioner of the general land office. Before they had got far into the subject Lamar told Henley he had almost made up his mind to appoint some one else to that position. He declined to say who it was, but added that his name had never been heard of in connection with that office. This seems to dispose of Slater's chances also.

NEW RAILROAD FOR MONTANA.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 17.—The construction of a new railroad from Butte City, Montana, through Pipestone pass to a connection with the Northern Pacific is announced this morning. The road is to be of standard gauge, seventy-five miles long, and will run through Gallatin and Silver Bow counties. It will be called the Montana Central. A number of San Francisco capitalists are interested in it.

STILL ON A STRIKE.

The Union foundry helpers are still out on a strike. They have unanimously refused to return to work until the old wages of $2 a day have been restored.

ST. PATRICK'S DAY.

St. Patrick's day was celebrated here in the usual manner to-day, by a parade, literary exercises and balls and entertainments in the evening.

CANADA.

WIGGINS PREDICTS A STORM.

OTTAWA, Ont., March 17.—Prof. Wiggins has predicted a great storm to begin to-morrow. It will be mainly in the Atlantic, but will be as heavy in the north as in the south Atlantic. It will start in the neighborhood of London, but it will be there thirty-six hours before it will reach America.

THE ANTI-CHINESE BILL.

NEW YORK, March 17.—A Herald's Ottawa dispatch says: Sir John Macdonald states that the British Columbia Chinese prohibition bill, if it arrives, will be disallowed, but as a similar bill of last year was declared ultra vires by the British Columbia courts, the new bill must share a similar fate, even if the Dominion government did not exercise its prerogative of disallowing it.

THE SOUDAN.

ITALY'S OFFER REJECTED.

ROME, March 17.—In the chamber of deputies to-day the minister of foreign affairs said that after the fall of Khartoum the Italian ambassador to England intimated to Granville that Italy was willing to assist England. Granville replied that England could and must herself subjugate the Soudan. The foreign minister said the Italian government would not conclude any treaty to the detriment of existing agreements with Germany and Austria.

THE OFFICE SEEKERS.

HENDRICKS AND VOORHEES SNUBBED.

Special to the Chicago Tribune.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 17.—Vice-President Hendricks and Senator Voorhees have had an interview with the President in which they tried to persuade him that he ought to move promptly in putting republicans out and filling their places with democrats. They presented all the arguments of party policy and the doctrine "to the victors belong the spoils." President Cleveland heard them through and then told them plainly that he intended to carry out the propositions he had set forth in his letter on the civil service, and the declaration of his inaugural on the same subject. He held the party by its civil service law to be bound to an honest effort to carry its principles into effect. Both Mr. Hendricks and Senator Voorhees dissented most emphatically from the position of the president, and especially from the purpose he announced of making changes slowly and except in those classes of offices where [illegible] expect a change almost at once [illegible]. ## The Panama Rebels Waiting for Reinforcements.

DERISIVE CHEERS FOR GLADSTONE

Coin Silver Counterfeits Discovered at Boston—The Iowa Prohibition Law Declared Constitutional—News Notes.

WASHINGTON, March 17.—Commander Kane telegraphs the secretary of the navy from Colon that a revolution exists at Panama and Aspinwall and that he landed marines and hauled the Galena alongside the wharf to protect property. Carthagena is also besieged.

HEAVY FIRING CEASES.

PANAMA, March 17 (via Galveston).—Heavy firing ceased at 9 P. M. last night. The rebels retired to Buena Vista, to recruit. The British gunboat Heroine landed seventy-five men yesterday, with a gatling gun to protect property. Traffic on the Panama railroad, and business, were suspended to-day and there is great excitement, as a second attack is expected. President Arosemena took refuge on the Heroine. Colon is reported in possession of the rebels. Telegrams via Galveston are delivered without delay in Panama.

A BAD STATE OF AFFAIRS.

PANAMA, (via Galveston) March 17.—General Gonima, commander of the Columbian guard, arrived with reinforcements this morning and the rebels retired outside the city and will await help from Barranquilla and Colon. Colon is in the hands of rebels commanded by a notorious criminal named Stores, and is being pillaged. The leader declares he will reduce the city to ashes if government troops attempt to recapture it. Marines from the United States steamer Galena are in Colon. English forces guard Panama railroad property.

THE PANAMA REVOLUTION ENDED.

NEW YORK, March 17.—Reliable advices state that the Panama revolution has ended.

ENGLAND.

GLADSTONE MAKES FURTHER EXPLANATION.

LONDON, March 17.—Gladstone in the commons this afternoon received a dispatch from Edward Thornton, British ambassador at St. Petersburg, in reply to Granville, desiring to know if England's understanding of the arrangement with Russia was the same as that entertained by Degiers. Gladstone replied that Russian troops should not advance from the position now occupied by them provided the Afghans do not advance or unless some extraordinary reason be given, such as disturbances in Penjdeh. Stringent orders were sent to the Russian commander to use every means to avoid a conflict or excitement that might lead to a conflict. The above orders will be repeated. Several interrogatories were at once put, but Gladstone declined to answer them and deprecated any further questioning of the government upon the question at present. Gladstone, in connection with Afghan inquiries, stated that the demands of the British government for the withdrawal of the Russians from the advanced position had lapsed. This announcement was received with ironical cheers.

PARNELL PRESIDES AT A BANQUET.

LONDON, March 17.—Parnell presided at a banquet in London in honor of St. Patrick's day. In proposing a toast to the Irish nation, he predicted better times coming. He paid high tribute to the enterprise of the far-seeing manufacturer who had advanced divers industries of Ireland to the position they have now attained, but he thought if Irish men and Irish women all over the world would use the excellent products of Irish soil wherever practicable to the exclusion of all other products the material prosperity of Ireland would be more quickly developed, her financial independence be secured, and her political independence speedily follow.

WILL NOT EXPEL STEPHENS.

LONDON, March 17.—In the commons Harcourt stated that England would not ask France to rescind the order of the arrest and expulsion of Stephens, because it was not a matter in which England had any right to interfere. He believed Stephens had not been subjected to actual arrest, but simply ordered to leave France.

THREE STEAMERS OVERDUE.

LONDON, March 17.—The steamers Humber, Pecta and Vorsetzer, from the United States, have not arrived at their destinations. Insurance companies are anxious about their safety.

DYNAMITE DISCOVERY.

LONDON, March 17.—A quantity of dynamite was found concealed in the Irish quarters of Liverpool.

EASTERN NEWS ITEMS

DANGEROUS COUNTERFEITS DISCOVERED.

NEW YORK, March 17.—The Sun's special from Boston says: Business men in this vicinity who handle large quantities of subsidiary silver coin are considerably disturbed by the occasional detection of genuine counterfeit half dollars which it is judged must be in very extensive circulation. They call them "genuine counterfeits," because, when properly coined, they are identical in size, weight and composition with those from government mints. It is only by means of an occasional flaw in coining that they are detected, and it is, therefore, impossible to estimate the quantity of them in circulation. Counterfeiting of this sort is exceedingly profitable when done on a large scale, and detection is practically impossible, if the necessary precautions are taken. It is not at all surprising that "crooks" who recently stooped to counterfeiting pennies should make this a branch of their work. The bullion value of one dollar in subsidiary silver coin is only seventy-seven cents, and a 23 per cent. margin of profit makes quite an inducement to counterfeiters. It is believed that most of the metal used is from remelted trade dollars. By purchase of these in large quantities the counterfeiters obtain metal already mixed at just the standard alloy. To illustrate the profit in the operation, 100 trade dollars purchased for 84 cents, the present market price, will yield 217 standard half dollars, a profit of $24.50, less the small cost of recoinage. Secret service officers have no clue as to where the work is being done.

GENERAL GRANT'S CONDITION.

NEW YORK, March 17.—At the residence of General Grant this morning Colonel Fred. Grant stated that Dr. Douglas was mistaken in believing the general asleep when the doctor left last night. The general dreads to be a burden upon any one and closed his eyes and lay quiet until the physicians left the house. Then he became restless, and was awake all night. This morning he has had no long sleep, but dozed while sitting in two easy chairs. Mrs. Sartoris will arrive in the steamer Baltic.

NEW YORK, March 17.—Dr. Douglas after his visit to General Grant to-night said: "The general had a sleepless night, but he made it up to-day. He slept much in the afternoon and was much refreshed by it. He was at 11:30 to-night in a sound slumber. His temperature is normal and his pulse about the same. He talked and acted brighter to-night than in several days."

AN APPOINTMENT DENOUNCED.

BALTIMORE, March 17.—The executive committee of the Civil Service Reform Association of Maryland adopted a resolution to-night saying: "The selection of Eugene Higgins for the responsible position of appointment clerk of the treasury department has been a painful surprise to this association and all friends of honest government in the state of Maryland, and is explicable only on the supposition that the secretary of the treasury was ignorant of the character and antecedents of the person chosen. That the Civil Service Reform Association of Maryland urgently suggests his immediate removal therefrom, giving as a cause for such action that his reputation in this community is not that of a man of integrity and honor."

STRIKE OF COAL MINERS.

DANVILLE, Ill., March 17.—Five hundred miners employed by the Ellsworth Coal Company struck to-day for restoration of the price of mining to 80 cents per ton, from which it was reduced to 70 cents February 1. They also decided to remain out till the demands of the miners of the same company at Mount Olive and Staunton are acceded to. One thousand miners employed by the Grape Creek Coal and Coke Company will strike to-morrow.

THE PROHIBITION LAW CONSTITUTIONAL.

COUNCIL BLUFFS, March 17.—The supreme court to-day, the entire bench concurring, rendered an opinion affirming the constitutionality of the prohibition law. It sustains the validity of injunctions to abate nuisances which exist as saloons, and in every particular maintains the provisions of the act as it stands to-day on the statute books of the state.

WOMAN SUFFRAGISTS AROUSED.

ALBANY, N. Y., March 17.—At a woman's suffrage society meeting to-night Kate Stoneman (sister of Governor Stoneman of California) and others denounced Governor Pierce of Dakota for vetoing the woman suffrage act passed by the legislature of the territory. The society sent a dispatch to President Cleveland asking Pierce's removal.

A BLOW AT MARK TWAIN.

NEW ORLEANS, 17.—General railroad passenger agents to-day elected the following officers: President, C. A. Taylor; vice president, John N. Abbott, general passenger agent of the New York, Lake Erie and Western; secretary, A. J. Smith, of Vicksburg. The election of Mr. Abbott was made by acclamation, he being one of the oldest members.

MANUFACTURES, CAPITAL AND MARKETS.

PORTLAND, March 17.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

I have read with interest the articles recently published in your paper on the present depressed condition of our commercial and manufacturing interests and the reforms advocated. Believing that an unbiased discussion of the many difficulties under which we are struggling will go far towards correcting them, I offer the following comments.

Regarding the criticisms on the "cent per cent." men, I would ask: Is it not a natural outcome of existing circumstances? Where there are so many opportunities for investment, with an almost positive assurance of large returns in the near future, is it not natural that high rates of interest should rule, as long as there is not a surplus of money in the country? In other words, does not the demand for money regulate the rate of interest? So far as investment in manufacturing and other enterprises is concerned, is it not unreasonable to expect capital to seek investment in that way, purely on a prospective basis, when there is such a demand for it in opening up the interior portions of the state to settlement? What would Oregon have been if capital had not been advanced on improvements? If the same amount had been invested in manufactures where would our market be? (for surely there is not enough population in the state to utilize the "cent per cent." capital), whereas the field for the development of the agricultural and similar interests is very large. In developing these interests a market is being made for all classes of industry.

Another very potent reason for not investing in manufactures, lies in the fact that our railroads and steamship companies are compelled to offer special inducements to outside shippers in the way of low rates, in order to obtain a sufficient traffic for their support, and to offset these low rates, they have no alternative left but to increase local rates. This of itself throws our home capital with its limited market into competition with outside capital that has the world for a market, consequently if we were to undertake to supply our own market, the meagerness of business would necessitate high prices as compared with prices on goods that are now imported, though the capital invested would not be remunerative.

Whenever our home market assumes sufficient magnitude to warrant the investment of capital in any industrial enterprise, I feel certain, from my acquaintance with the "cent per cent." men of Oregon, that there will be no cause to complain of inactivity on their part, and by that time it is to be hoped that the various transportation companies of the state will see the advisability of fostering and encouraging the internal growth of the state, by establishing very low rates on all articles produced in the country seeking a market. In fact, such a policy would materially stimulate the internal growth of the state, if carried out now, for there would then be some encouragement to those who wish to settle outside of Portland. Under the present policy, it is a rare thing for a man to embark in any enterprise in the interior of the state, and make anything more than expenses, with freight added. And when the internal industries of the state are throttled, how can the metropolis expect prosperity?

THE EAST SIDE.

MORE OF THE HORSE CASE.

Recent actions of F. Kircher, the party under bonds to answer for causing the spread of a contagious disease among horses, induced his bondsmen, M. Hunter and W. Deckenbach, to suspect he was preparing to "leave them in the lurch." They consequently had him arrested and brought before Justice Simpson and vacated their responsibility, whereupon the court consigned him to the county jail. The prisoner, who is an aged man, appeared very much surprised and chagrined by the proceeding.

The above defendant, who protests his innocence of the charge imputed to him, has now caused the arrest of John Cotsdobler, his accuser, who claims that horses at Jos. Taylor's stable, of which he (Catsdobler) has charge, contracted a disease from a horse bought from him (Kircher). Kircher alleges however, that his horse was sound when disposed of, and contracted the disease while in the possession of Cotsdobler. The charge against the latter will be examined by Justice Simpson in a day or two.

POLITICAL SUGGESTION.

It begins to look as though a great many good democrats didn't lose anything in the way of office by dying some years ago.—Chicago News.

If Mr. Cleveland adheres to what at present appears to be his intentions, the election of a democratic president will not have that disturbing influence on the center of population that many have expected.—Chicago Times.

The intelligent democrats in New York are agreed that there ought not to be, and that there will not be any change of postmaster in this city. Whatever expectations the more office seekers may have, may be disregarded. Every possible consideration bearing on the subject makes Mr. Pearson's retention sure.—New York Times.

It is not going to be the west versus the east in future political contests, at least concurrently with the formal party issue of office getting. It has been so as yet only in personal rivalries; but these may foreshadow political contests, and the financial and fiscal questions will be the ones at issue.—Galveston (Tex.) News.

The Rev. Mr. Spurgeon suggests that scriptural texts be printed on lozenges, and perhaps President Cleveland's civil service reform texts—"A public office is a public trust," "The offices belong to the people and not to the party," "Partisan service shall constitute no claim for office," and so on, might be easier to swallow if they were fixed up in the same way.—Chicago Times.

Neal Dow, who only last fall ranted round, declaring that the republican party was a good enough prohibition party for him, now publicly announces that he has left it forever, impelled thereto by the fact that it has formed an alliance with the beer and whisky interests of the country. Neal Dow should kneel down and beseech heaven to give him power to know his own mind a month at a time.—Pittsburg Commercial-Gazette.

Men who expected to see Cleveland and his cabinet at work with a hose and a hickory broom long before this are beginning to show some signs of disappointment. They will discover after a while that all those campaign cries were meant in a Pickwickian sense and that republicans in office are to be permitted to die of old age. The democrats come into power just in time to get hold of the hot end of the civil service reform poker.—Chicago Herald.

THE DEMOCRATIC PARTY.

Whether, in the appointment of Miller of West Virginia, instead of Thompson of Kentucky, to the office of commissioner of internal revenue, there is any such significance as Watterson of the Louisville Courier-Journal finds, is a question whose solution may depend on the views one takes of the tariff and internal revenue, and their relation to the industries and finances of the country. The tariff question is closely related to internal revenue policy. If the internal revenue system be retained duties on foreign goods may be greatly decreased; but if domestic taxes be abolished, then the whole resource for revenue will be the tariff on imports, and hence the tariff cannot be materially reduced.

It is well known that the democratic party is divided sharply on this question. With greatest difficulty it got through the late campaign without coming to an open rupture upon it. Randall of Pennsylvania and Carlisle of Kentucky are usually spoken of as the representatives of the two opposing ideas. They were competitors for the speakership of the last congress—Randall standing for high tariff and Carlisle for low tariff. Though Carlisle won the speakership, Randall held a strong force of democrats against the Carlisle policy, and succeeded in defeating the bill to reduce the duties. The question threatened for a time to disrupt the democratic national convention but at last, by the use of a juggle of words which could be interpreted both ways, they got over the difficulty for that occasion, and the two factions succeeded in working together for the campaign. But it was apparent that Mr. Cleveland's sympathies were with the Randall wing, and this has become still more apparent in the composition of his cabinet. The free trade element of the party is represented by the appointment of Mr. Bayard to the state department,—a department that has nothing to do with fiscal policy, but when the selection for the treasury was to be made the president took Mr. Manning, who has steadily proclaimed through his paper—the Albany Argus—that the tariff was not a political or party question, and that the country was not called on in the late political contest to decide whether protection should be upheld or not. The treasury, then, is to be administered in accord with the views of the Randall party. That is to say, Mr Cleveland's administration will lend its influence to the support of the protection system,—though in doing so it will run counter to the views and wishes of the larger section of the party.

The reminiscences of slavery and the memories of the war will hold the south together, but beyond this the democratic party has not a single bond of union. It represents nothing, and can agree upon nothing. The vote of last November was not a vote of confidence either in the democratic party or in Mr Cleveland, for Mr Cleveland, as the candidate of the party, lacked some 300,000 of a majority of the votes cast in the several states. As the Ohio State Journal puts it, his election signified nothing except a desire for change on the part of a bare plurality of the voters. Men voted for Cleveland for different and opposing reasons. Democrats of the Carlisle school voted for him on the assumption that he was a free-trader, while democrats of the Randall school supported him because they understood him to be a protectionist. The silver inflationists of the west and southwest voted for Cleveland because they believed him to be an 85-cent dollar man, the gold-bugs of the east supported him because they regarded him as a monometalist. The anti-monopolists gave Cleveland an enthusiastic support, while Gould and Vanderbilt, the bonanza miners and the Standard Oil company, regarded him as in no way inimical to their interests, and so supplied his campaign committee with the sinews of war. The New York and New England independents voted for Cleveland because, in their opinion, he represented civil service reform, the great body of the democrats of the country supported him under the impression that he would, when elected, disregard the civil service law, which they regard as an undemocratic humbug. In fact Mr Cleveland represented nothing except the aggregated opposition to the republican party to-wit, the solid south, the mossbacks, the kids, the soreheads, the mugwumps and cranks. Of the 10,000,000 votes cast at the late election he did not receive as much as 2,000,000 of any one leading idea. Properly speaking, he has no national party at his back. A large and influential section of the democratic party is in favor of continuing the republican policy as regards the public credit, the tariff and the currency. If Mr Cleveland declares in favor of that section of his party one-half of the democratic representatives and senators in congress will array themselves in opposition to his administration, unless they are prepared to go back on their professed principles, as for siding with the inflationists and free-traders he dares not do that. If he persists in his attempt to carry out the mugwump idea of civil service he will bring a swarm of hornets about his ears which will make it exceedingly unpleasant for him, and woe unto him if he disappoints the mugwumps to whom he owes his election.

Controversies in the democratic party on all these subjects are inevitable. So long as there was no responsibility resting on that party for the conduct of the government these differences could be kept within bounds, and opposition to the republican party was a bond of union. But all that is changed now. Responsibility can no longer be disclaimed. The questions which heretofore have been evaded by the democratic party must now come to direct issue within it. The consequence will be seen next winter when all these subjects come up in congress for discussion and solution. Then the democratic party must take the lead. It must outline and develop a policy of its own. It cannot do this and retain the support of all the factions that contributed to its success in the late presidential election.

A TEST CASE.

In his inaugural address President Cleveland said that "the people demand reform in the administration of the government and the application of business principles to public affairs. As a means to this end civil service reform should be in good faith enforced. Our citizens have the right to protection from the incompetency of public employes who hold their places solely as the reward of partisan services, and from the corrupting influence of those who promise, and the vicious methods of those who expect such rewards."

Thus far the president has made but few nominations to office. He does not act as if he had gone to Washington with lists made up of republicans to be slaughtered, and the spoilsmen are becoming disgusted with him. But his sincerity as a civil service reformer has not yet been really tested. A case will soon be brought to his attention, however, which will give him an opportunity to show to the country what his real intentions are. The term of Mr Pearson, postmaster of New York expires on the 21st instant, and the disposition which he shall make of this office will prove a crucial test of Mr. Cleveland's sincerity. Mr Pearson owes his present position not so much to politics as to his own efficiency. He has worked his way through every grade and by service in almost every department of the postoffice. His aim as postmaster has been to improve the efficiency of the service to the public, and to leave the management of politics to others. He has refused to permit his subordinates to be intimidated into giving political assessments and has shielded them from the onslaught of politicians who sought their positions. The business community is practically unanimous in desiring his re-appointment. The democratic politicians of course want the place for some man who has distinguished himself for partisan service and given promise that he would use the postal service to help the party. But if Mr Cleveland intends to carry out the pledges he has made it will be difficult for him to find any reason for disregarding the sentiment of the business community and disappointing the hopes of the reformers. If this post office with its 1500 or more employes is made one of the prizes in the new administration, there will be little hope of the application of business principles to public affairs during this administration. The Rochester Democrat, a republican paper, says "the president may or may not weaken in the future. He may or may not have the pluck to carry him along in the line which he has presumably marked out. These things are yet to be determined, but, for the present, he is doing well and deserves credit for good intentions. We have no predictions to make, but stranger things have happened than that, before many months have waxed and waned, the president should have established himself in the confidence of the better elements of his party, while the sectionalist and the spoilsmen, and the silver lunatics, and all that maketh and loveth a lie, in his own party, will be in deadly hostility to him."

PRISON LABOR.

As a lesson for Connecticut, the Hartford Courant reviews the rise and progress, in the state of New York, of that peculiar form of demagogy that prevents the inmates of prisons from supporting themselves, and thus from learning trades by which they can earn honest livings and reform. Putting aside the moral question entirely, the benefit to the state of reforming these men into producing and law-abiding and industrious citizens, the Courant says, "the state has made a tremendous saving of money in not being obliged to catch, try and send again to prison these ex-convicts. It is just there that the great economy comes in, and it is just there that 'reformation' of convicts pays. The state of New York has made a tremendous retrograde movement in economy, in morals, in civilization. It is a warning specimen of what we may expect from the rule of demagogues."

The Pittsburg Post has lately published some statistics taken from the report of the warden of the western Pennsylvania penitentiary, to show that idleness and a lack of industrial training are the chief causes of crime. It is a general notion that a great proportion of human misery and crime results from intemperance, but the records of prisons show that at the present day rogues as a class are neither ignorant nor intemperate. Of 574 prisoners received last year in the penitentiary referred to 477 had no trade, 491 could read and write, and only 46 are classed as intemperate, though a larger number, 190, were "occasionally intoxicated." It appears from these statistics that ignorance holds but a trifling relation to the causes which lead to an evil life that is almost certain to find its outcome in the state prison. Intemperance is a more potent force, yet is only a secondary one. Idleness and a lack of industrial training are the sweeping causes that lead to a life of crime. When the state has an opportunity to supply the defect in industrial training which brings men and boys to the penitentiary, the opportunity should not be neglected by the demagogue's plea against letting prison labor compete with the labor of honest people. If the prisoner do not work in prison the honest laborer must be taxed for his support in idleness.

The actions of Barrios or some of those Central American republics may lead the United States to take a hand in their difficulties. Already it has been deemed necessary to send one or two of our war vessels to cruise in neighboring waters, and it is understood the Wachusetts has special instructions to act in case of emergency. By our dispatches this morning there seems reason to suppose that it may be necessary to do something more decisive than merely watch American interests. The Central and South American Cable company, an American institution, has received considerable attention recently, and it is now stated that guards have been placed at all their landings by the authorities of Mexico, San Salvador and Nicaragua, with the probable intention of seizing or manipulating the property in case it should seem feasible. Secretary Bayard has notified the Guatamalan government that it will be held responsible for any damage to American life or property. Should his notice be appreciated by Barrios there is little danger of further trouble, but there remains a possibility that we may be obliged to recast our plowshares and have a little Egyptian campaign of our own.

The bill to prevent aliens from holding large estates in our territories, which was reported favorably in the senate, has excited some attention and remark in England. The London Standard takes it for granted that the bill will eventually become a law, and points out a way of getting around it. "The concealed intention of the bill is to limit immigration, and thus act as a 'protection' to a class whose clamor has led to its introduction in congress. The first effect of its passing would be to stop the flow of capital to America, and to seriously influence the prosperity of the regions to which this money went," says the Standard. It may, however, be easily avoided. "There are such devices as holding property under powers of attorney and trusteeships; and though it may be illegal for one company to own more than 5000 acres, the bill does not touch six who parcel out a tract of 30,000 acres among them with an understanding regarding the yearly division of profits."

A rumor in Canada that the British government has asked how soon the Canadian Pacific railroad will be completed is interpreted, in view of a possible war with Russia on the Afghan frontier, as a timely preparation for forwarding troops and supplies. Mr R. B Angus, vice-president of the Canadian Pacific, says that if the Suez canal should be closed, the shortest route to India would be over the Canadian Pacific. It is also the shortest to China. Great Britain must have an alternate route, as complications may arise in the Mediterranean which would make even communication with Egypt difficult, although it would be a roundabout way to get there. Mr Angus says the gaps yet to be built in the Canadian Pacific are not of such distance that troops, should necessity compel them, could not make the distance by easy marches, in fact, troops could be sent over this route in April, when the Canadian Pacific boats begin running on Lake Superior.

The Wicomico (Md.) Herald lifts up its voice as follows: "Hosanna! The inauguration of a democratic president is unto our famished soul as honey on a hot waffle. Our blood tingles with freshness, we can hear the birds singing in the green groves that margin the pellucid lakes in paradise. Just think of it! After hobbling in the arid, sandy desert of politics for twenty four years, we round up at an oasis whose springs are nectar and whose beds are roses. Is it any wonder that every hair of our editorial head seems to be a jew's-harp playing that good old tune, 'Saints' Rest.' We have an eye on the postoffice, and the future spreads out before us like the feather-end of a peacock on a sunny June morning." What an inexpressible sadness must reign just about this time in the neighborhood of Wicomico. The cold, stern fact of civil service reform has evidently produced as cheering an effect as the presence of a skeleton at the wedding feast. 'Tis very touching.

The Philadelphia Record sounds a note in favor of municipal spring cleaning in an article beginning: "Between forty and fifty thousand cesspools exist in this city." After so startling an opening, the article goes on to describe the effect which these cesspools, most of which are not cemented, are having on the soil of Philadelphia. Judging by the facts stated, Philadelphia has some reason to be disturbed lest its condition in this respect invite an epidemic, or make one that may come uninvited entirely at home. This city is not free from the cesspool nuisance, but the prevailing low temperature of the summer months reduces the danger to, perhaps, a lower point. It would be much safer, however, to supply every part of the city with sewers, and avoid altogether the uncleanness of that disposal of filth which is modeled on the system of the old Turk ... ward.

The New York Sun draws the line in favor of civil service reform in the White House cook. Other officials, the Sun says, must be routed out in order that democrats may be put in who will "vitalize the party." But a first-class cook is not to be sacrificed to the vicissitudes of politics, and the Sun openly rejoices in the retention by Mr Cleveland of Mr Arthur's distinguished cook. In its solicitude for the peace of mind of this great artist, the Sun gently hints to Mr. Cleveland that the latter's crude rural notions about early breakfasts may indicate indifference to the great dinners which are the cook's especial pride, and adds that Mr. Cleveland should not discourage the high ambitions of his cook.

President Cleveland's appointments to office have averaged less than one per day since March 4. There are no words in the English language sufficiently strong to give even a hint of the prevalent and growing democratic disgust at this presidential procrastination. "For what does he suppose we gave him election," ask these angry seekers for place, "if not to give us the offices just as fast as commissions can be signed?" In the matter of office distribution, clearly enough, the president and the party bosses are differently minded.

The democratic politicians who go to Washington do not have to be asked, "What will you take?" They know what they will take. "What will we get?" is the burning question with them, and it is likely to grow more burning as their stay is prolonged.

A contested election case in the North Carolina legislature has resulted in unseating a white democrat and giving the place to a colored republican. This is another evidence of the progress of republicanism.

Four thousand saloons in Illinois have been closed by the Harper high license law, and tax payers are saved two million dollars a year by it.

THE HOOSIER DEMOCRATS

Indiana Excited over the Quarrel between her Favorite Sons

INDIANAPOLIS March 8.—The interview with Mr McDonald in which he said that so far as he knew Mr Hendricks had said nothing favorable to him as a member of the cabinet, though possibly nothing against him, in which he differs from every other leading democrat in Indiana, has caused no little excitement in political circles and is generally understood to be the precursor of a fight on Mr. McDonald's part against the treachery of which he has been a victim for so long a time. However the disposition of the party to worship the rising sun is shown in the fact that on Thursday the democrats in the senate declined to vote for the resolution saying that the appointment of Mr McDonald in the cabinet would be satisfactory to the Indiana democracy. At that time it had become a settled fact that Mr McDonald had been passed over and the members of the senate who hoped for some sort of recognition at the hands of the administration did not care to tie themselves up with a dead man so far as influence seemed to go. Ever since Mr. McDonald's name came into anything like prominent discussion in connection with national affairs it has been steadily asserted by those who knew the relations between the two men that Mr Hendricks would use every means to defeat the ambition of his supposed rival who assumes to be a leader in the party not subservient to him. Against this state of affairs interested democrats raised a hue and cry and the columns of democratic papers have been filled with misstatements as to the relations between the two men.

It is learned from democratic sources that there is reason for believing that Mr McDonald is an avowed candidate for the senate two years hence, and that in the factional fight which will naturally follow this candidacy he will burn the bridges behind him. There is also reason for believing that he will be championed by Senator Voorhees and the editor of the Sentinel, while Mr Hendricks will serve a similar purpose for Governor Gray, and that the result will be the political deathknell in this state for either the governor, Mr Hendricks or Mr McDonald. In the very nature of things it will be a fight of political giants. It is no secret that the friends of Mr McDonald all feel deeply chagrined over Mr Hendricks's course and they attribute the failure of Indiana to secure recognition in the cabinet to his lack of action if not his direct opposition. The feeling that Mr Hendricks betrayed McDonald at Chicago has been growing ever since the national convention, although it was practically lost sight of in the campaign, and now it leaks out or at least it is whispered that Mr McDonald was averse to Mr Hendricks being sent as a delegate, but that he was overruled by Hendricks' friends who demanded that the governor should represent Indiana in naming him (McDonald) for the presidency. Mr Hendricks did serve him, but his heart was not in his task, and that personal magnetism with which he is said to abound failed to materialize in McDonald's interest to any appreciable extent. It is said by those in condition to know that Mr McDonald while giving a cordial support to Cleveland's administration will not accept any political distinction at his hands, should such be offered, preferring, in obedience to the wishes of his friends, to remain here in active politics in order still further to strengthen his footing with the Indiana democracy preparatory to the final struggle for the senate. It is also said that Mr Henderson, chairman of the democratic state central committee, will be numbered among Governor Gray's supporters. Something of the nature and intensity of the row which is already in the air may be judged when such triumvirates as Hendricks, Gray and Henderson upon the one hand and Voorhees, McDonald and the organ of the party on the other, hold their final meet to test conclusions. It will practically upset the state and paint it doubly red.

Liquor License in Minneapolis and St. Paul

St. Paul Pioneer Press.

In Minneapolis one year ago there were 317 saloons yielding a revenue under the low license, wide open policy of $31,600. During the past year under the high license policy the number of saloons has been reduced to 234, yielding an annual revenue to the city of $137,000. In St. Paul there are now 551 saloons whose aggregate license tax yields the city $55,300. If high license resulted in the same proportionate reduction as at Minneapolis, we should have 282 saloons yielding an annual revenue of $141,000—a direct addition to the revenue of the city of $85,700. This is equivalent to nearly one fourth of the entire tax levy of the city, which is $356,000, and would reduce the city tax from 16 mills to 12 mills.

A Terrible Fire

Arouses the apprehensions of a whole city. And yet the wild havoc of disease startles no one. Sad to relate, women suffer from year to year with chronic diseases and weaknesses peculiar to their sex, knowing that they are growing worse with every day, and still take no measures for their own relief. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the result of life long and learned study of female complaints. It is guaranteed to cure.

It is about time to hear something about the discoveries made in the books at Washington. Has Mr Cleveland seen the trial balance that shows how Tom Hendricks counted all the buzzard dollars in the treasury.—Cleveland Herald.

If you suffer from looseness of the bowels, Angostura Bitters will surely cure you. Beware of counterfeits and ask your grocer or druggist for the genuine article, prepared by Dr. J. G. B. Siegert & Sons.

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

TRAVELING INCOGNITO.—The last passenger list telegraphed to this city from San Francisco contained the name of M. C. Leary. An intelligent compositor discovered that this was undoubtedly intended to announce the coming of M. Cleary, otherwise Mike Cleary, the pugilist, who had visited all the principal cities in the United States including San Francisco, and was now seeking further fields of conquest in Oregon. The compositor who made the discovery and the reporter who made an item therefrom are now vindicated, for last night after the arrival of the steamer the name of M. Cleary, in a big round hand, appeared upon the Holton house register. If this was written by the pugilist it is the only mark of his presence in Portland that is anywhere to be found, for no one has seen or even heard him. Quite a number of sports and sporting gentry awaited the arrival of the steamer at the dock, and eagerly scanned the face of each stranger as he came down the gangplank. But evidently there were no peculiar marks by which a pugilist can be recognized from the common crowd, for he escaped them all and gained the hotel unheralded. The clerk did not see, for the big round signature was dashed upon the book while he was so busy that he assigned a room without looking at the name. The stranger took the key, went to the room and locked himself in, and there he is. Several reporters tried to gain admittance for an interview, but were forced to acknowledge themselves baffled. Like Ben Butler, Mr Cleary had nothing to say to reporters and he did not even respond to repeated knocks upon his door. If the stranger is the expected pugilist perhaps his long experience has taught him to get a good night's rest before submitting to interview. If it is not he, the unobserved actions of a stranger with no desire whatever for notoriety have probably been misconstrued.

ANOTHER ACCIDENT.—Yesterday afternoon an accident occurred at the corner of Second and B streets to Mrs Wesley Graves, wife of the proprietor of the Chemeketa hotel, Salem, and Mr. Savage, clerk of the hotel. They were walking near the frame building now being moved through the street, when a hook to which one of the ropes was attached gave way. The rope struck Mrs. Graves and Mr Savage on the heels, throwing them backward very heavily to the paved street. Mrs Graves struck upon her head above the left temple and received a severe shock. She was rendered unconscious and was carried into a neighboring store, where Dr C. H Wheeler was summoned. A scalp wound two inches long was made by the fall, but there was no concussion of the brain. Later Mrs Graves was removed to the Quimby house and in the evening had recovered consciousness, and was resting easy. Though her system was very roughly shaken up, she has probably not received permanent injuries. Mr Savage fell upon his shoulder, and beyond several painful bruises, escaped uninjured. This makes four persons injured at this building—one fatally. There is always more or less danger of ropes parting and slipping, yet hundreds of idlers hung around the building all day, and among the number were a score of children from 3 to 10 years old.

HORSES AND CATTLE TO CHICAGO.—A number of stockraisers in the neighborhood of Walla Walla have clubbed together and will send ten car loads of horses to Chicago via the Northern Pacific, next week. It is only an experiment, but is not attended with much risk. The market on the Pacific coast is very dull now, and the better prices likely to be obtained east will overcome the freight charges which are understood to be about $200 a car. The same stock raisers are making arrangements to ship a train load, 20 cars, of cattle to Chicago. They have several fine bands, and the highest price obtainable here at this time is 3½ cents, while the same quality of cattle is worth from 5½ to 6 cents in Chicago. The cost of transportation, including feed en route, will be within 1¼ cents per pound. There is ample provision all along the Northern Pacific for watering stock (live stock) and in Montana and Dakota numerous large corrals have been provided, where cattle can be unloaded and refreshed. The journey will take up from nine to ten days.

ONE OF THE SUITS.—In the case of the Pottier and Stymus Manufacturing company of New York vs Ben and Joe Holladay brought in the state circuit court to have the conveyance made by Ben of his property to Joe set aside as fraudulent in order that plaintiff might collect a claim of some $14,000 due from Ben, a separate answer was filed by Ben yesterday. He admits that he was at the times and dates mentioned in the complaint the owner of all the stocks, notes, mortgages and real and personal property therein described and that at the several times mentioned he did assign, convey and transfer the same to Joe by conveyances which were absolute upon the face, but denies that the same were taken by Joe to vest the legal title to the property in him. The document then states that a receiver has been appointed for the property and has taken charge thereof, and that his appointment is still in force, and Ben therefore prays to be dismissed with costs.

THE SAME FORGIVING SPIRIT.—Women are the same in Astoria as in Portland, and other parts of the world, as will be seen by the following from the Astorian. A married woman residing in Uniontown came before Justice Goodell yesterday afternoon and told a piteous tale of cruelty on the part of her husband, insisting that he be at once arrested, and assuring the justice that she could produce plenty proof of the charges. Yielding to her importunities he had the cruel husband arrested and lodged in jail, intending to have him tried yesterday. But at daybreak yesterday morning she was at the jail door pleading as earnestly to have him let out as on Sunday to have him confined. When the justice appeared she contradicted everything that she had said the morning before and, at last, having secured the release of her liege lord, she started home drying her eyes and apparently perfectly satisfied.

KNOTTY LEGAL PROBLEM.—J. Poulson was on trial in the police court yesterday on a charge of discharging firearms within the city limits. It appears that Mr Poulson shot at a dog which he claims was a vicious animal running at large. An ordinance provides that anyone can kill a vicious dog running at large and another ordinance forbids the discharge of firearms within the city limits. Now, a man could kill a vicious dog by choking him with butter if the butter was strong enough, but Mr Poulson claimed that he had a right to choose his own method and he chose the pistol. The owner of the dog asserted that it was not a vicious animal. This point could have been settled by the testimony, but the conflict between the authority to kill granted by one ordinance and the prohibition to shoot contained in the other was the knotty problem which the judge took under advisement till to-day.

AMUSEMENT NOTES.—Bessie Louise King closes her engagement at the Casino with the last production of the "Queen's Lace Handkerchief," and immediately thereafter goes to Chicago, where her services have already been engaged. There is likely to be plenty of attractions in Portland during the coming season. In addition to those which have already been announced, two more constellations, "galaxies and stars" as it were, have made their appearance in the eastern horizon, heading this way over the Northern Pacific. One of these is Haird's minstrels, a troupe of 50 people, direct from Chicago, and the other is called the "Adamless Eden Combination," which is composed entirely of women even to the orchestra. They present a burlesque opera something after the style of "Orpheus and Eurydice."

GOT ONE PER CENT.—In the state circuit court yesterday, in the case of Alexander Bernstein vs J B Edwards, the jury returned a verdict in favor of plaintiff for $50. Mr Bernstein is a lawyer here and Mr Edwards is an insurance adjuster, who resides in San Francisco. Bernstein and Edwards got into a dispute concerning the adjustment of the insurance on J Halberstadt's stock damaged by fire some time since, and Edwards so far forgot himself as to strike Bernstein in the face. Bernstein commenced suit in the state circuit court to recover damages in the sum of $5,000, but the jury took off 99 per cent. discount for cash, the plaintiff receiving $50 net.

SEVERAL CANNERYMEN BITTEN.—A cannery man from down the Columbia, speaking yesterday of an article in Sunday's OREGONIAN concerning the ferocity of salmon, said he could bear witness to the truthfulness of the statement. He asserts that there is not a cannery man along the river who has not been bitten by salmon, and that some of them have received scars that will never be erased. Not only is the salmon dangerous while alive, but even after it is killed and corked and canned it has bitten people. In fact it seems that about the only way a cannery man can avoid being bitten by salmon is to keep from having anything to do with them.

ANNOYED BY BOMBARDIERS.—Peter Sykes complains that since young Martin, who bombarded his chicken house, was let off with a reprimand, things are growing worse around the Sykes hacienda, and he is beginning to think that there is a ku-klux band in his vicinity. He says that his house was stoned last night and he does not know what will come next. If any of the boys think they can annoy the veteran Peter with impunity they will find that they are mistaken. And if boys throw stones at Sykes' house he should provide himself with a gatling gun and annihilate his persecutors.

CAUGHT A STURGEON.—A boy fishing off a dock down town yesterday for suckers hooked a sturgeon. For some time it was a moot question as to whether the boy would catch the sturgeon or the sturgeon would catch the boy, but genius is bound to triumph and the big fish was eventually landed into a wheelbarrow and the proud captor started out to sell it. Dealers declined to purchase on the ground that they had no slaughter house and were accustomed to buy only dressed sturgeon. At last a sale was effected in Chinatown. The fish weighed 150 pounds.

"JACOB'S TWINS."—Commencing with to-morrow's issue the New Northwest will publish a serial story, "Jacob's Twins, or Glimpses through Three Decades." It is by Mr A. F Johnson, an Oregon writer of versatility and strength, and deals largely with events immediately before, during and after the war of the rebellion. The customary features of the New Northwest, which have made it a welcome, bright and clean visitor to the household, will receive unusual attention during the coming year.

BUTCHERS' MEATS.—Some time since the butchers of this city advanced the price of beef, the step being necessary on account of the severe cold and the scarcity of the raw article. If a reduction to the old price has been made, the fact is still kept secret. The supply of cattle now is large, the quality fair, and the price so low that stockraisers are dissatisfied. It looks to a disinterested observer that lower rates for steaks and roasts would be in order just now.

DRAINING NORTH FRONT STREET.—Work was begun yesterday on North Front street, laying the terra cotta pipes which are intended to drain the roadway after it is paved with Belgian blocks. The street is now drained to the west and instead of permitting the surface water to empty into Couch lake it will be conducted back by means of the terra cotta pipes under the street and into the river.

PERSONAL.

Captain Allan Noyes of Astoria left for San Francisco by the Queen of the Pacific.

Mr. J. C Budene and wife of La Centre, W T., returned yesterday from New Orleans.

Mr. A. Wolfe, manager for S Lipman & Co., returned last night from a business trip to San Francisco.

Ex-Congressman M. C George and wife will arrive to-day from Washington, over the Northern Pacific.

Harry Gates and Hattie Moore, the new members of the Casino Company, arrived last night, and are registered at the Holton. They will be in the cast of the "Bohemian Girl," the opera to follow the "Queen's Lace Handkerchief."

THE STAGE.

THE CASINO.—After numerous but unavoidable delays "The Queen's Lace Handkerchief" will be produced to-night with the following cast:

| | |
|---|---|
| King of Portugal | Jeannie Winston |
| Queen of Portugal | Bessie Louise King |
| Donna Irene, her attendant | Louise Edgar |
| Marchioness | Irene Mull |
| Fremiler | Arthur Bell |
| Cervantes, a Poet | Frank Valerga |
| Don Sancho, Tutor to the King | Maurice Hageman |
| Don Quixote, Minister of War | Frank Blair |
| Minister of Justice | George Torpey |
| Minister of Finance | Walter Loveland |
| Antonio, an Innkeeper | George Wilkinson |
| Dancing Master | Henry Wallace |
| Major Domo | Charles Colby |

Following is the argument. The action of the opera takes place at the court of Portugal in 1580. The kingdom is ruled by the ministry headed by the prime minister, who is in league with Philip II of Spain, and to keep the power in his own hands he foments discord between the young queen, aged 17, and the king, who is 19 and encourages the latter in all sorts of dissipation. Cervantes the poet, banished from Spain, is at the time a captain in the royal guard and in love with Irene, first lady in waiting to the queen. These two befriend the young king and queen and desire to depose the ministry. Cervantes is appointed reader to her majesty and her neglected girlish heart conceives a sentiment for him and she writes on her handkerchief "A Queen Loves You" and placing it in the manuscript of Don Quixote hands it to him. The book is seized and as Don Quixote is the Portuguese minister of war and Sancho Panza the minister of instruction Cervantes is arrested for treason ... [illegible] ... the king effects his release by proving that he is insane, and the faithful sovereigns ascend the throne and declare the regency at an end. The prime minister then plays his last card and hands the king the queen's lace handkerchief with the compromising words written on it. Cervantes is again arrested and the queen banished to a convent. Escaping from his guards however Cervantes joins the brigands and they capture the queen as she is traveling to the convent and disguising themselves as host and waiting maid of a wayside inn they save the king who comes that way hunting and explain all to him. The compromising handkerchief being declared a message sent to the king by his wife through Cervantes' friendly hand.

PORTLAND, March 17, 1885.

YESTERDAY'S CELEBRATION.

How St. Patrick's Day was Observed in the City. The Parade and Speeches—Evening Entertainments

Except ... gusts of wind which blew dust into the eyes of spectators and those in the parade, the weather yesterday was all that could be desired for an out door celebration. Large crowds gathered on the streets ... the procession moved, and there was a great deal of activity manifested. Services were held at ... church, corner of Third and Stark streets, at ... o'clock, which was crowded.

At exactly ... o'clock the procession began moving down First street. It was headed by a platoon of mounted police and Captain Hare. The platoon consisted of Policemen Keegan, Ward, McCabe, Kelly, Wing, Morgan, Nash and Collins. Next followed the grand marshal of the day, Hon John M. ..., with the following aides: Henry ... Samuel ..., Fowell, W. I. Boise, J. J. Byrne, George Hall, Edward Morgan, Cornelius ... O'Brien, James Kennedy, J. ... Wilson, Thomas Malony, James ..., Frank Bonfield, Peter ..., Captain Brown, Patrick Powers, ..., James J. Kennedy, James ..., Joseph R. Wiley, Patrick Ryan and ...

Then followed the East Portland band playing Irish airs, the Washington guard and the Emmet guard. ... East Portland city ... about seventy five men. Portland Hibernian benevolent society accompanied by about twenty ... wearing suitable badges.

Then followed one of the handsomest and most attractive features of the procession, namely the liberty car drawn by four horses containing forty little girls dressed in white, wearing wreaths and each bearing small American and Irish flags in their hands. This car attracted much attention and elicited a great deal of complimentary comment. Following are the names of the girls who rode in the car: The Misses O'Neill, Gates, Brown, Barry, Bulger, Byrnes, Carroll, Cavanaugh, Hyland, Cox, Gaffney, Nolan, Nolan, Donovan, Kenne, Kilkenny, Kennelly, Holt, McNamara, McNamara, Healy, Ellis, Cunningham, Healy, Hall, Healy, Sherry, McNamara, Neil, Maloney, McCullough, Neil, Maloney, McCullough, Mitchell, Moran, McCullough. The goddess of liberty was personated by Miss McGrath and the maid of Erin by Miss Cockburn.

Following the liberty car was the Washington Guard military band.

The second division was headed by the Ancient Order of Hibernians, under James F. Meagher, county delegate, and followed by the following divisions and their officers:

Division No. 1—Ed Campion, Sr., president; Ed Campion Jr., vice president; P. Clyne, recording secretary; John Call, financial secretary; F. Cahill, treasurer.

Division No. 2—James Hyland, president; C. Burke, vice president; J. M. McDonald, financial secretary; and John Flinn, treasurer.

Division No. 3—Thomas Smythe, president; Ed Barty, vice president; Dennis Crowley, financial secretary; Owen Donald, treasurer.

The procession concluded with carriages containing the Irish clergy, invited guests and citizens. The line of march as published yesterday was followed. A halt was made at the Sisters' academy and the yard was quickly filled. Over the main entrance on the veranda hung a painting of St Patrick. The veranda was filled with the girls of the school, who sang "Is there no Hope for Erin," as composed by Charles Bray of this city. They were accompanied by a harp and organ. The music was sweet and elicited much applause. The bands played "Kathleen Aroon," after which the children sang "Exile of Erin." The lady musicians on the veranda played the "Evanise waltz." This ended the exercises at the school and the band playing an Irish medley marched out to Mill street through the southern gate, re-formed and marched to the New Market theater.

In a few minutes the auditorium was packed in every part. The assemblage was called to order by Mr. B. O'Hara, president of the day, who introduced in appropriate words Rev. Father Gibney, orator of the day, who spoke for an hour. It was an eloquent tribute to Ireland, full of telling points and touching pathos worthy of the occasion and the speaker. It was listened to throughout with marked attention and frequently interrupted by applause.

Miss Bessie Louise King, of the Casino Opera company, sang two appropriate Irish melodies which were received with great enthusiasm. Mr Dolan of San Francisco gave an excellent recitation.

In the evening the Hibernian Benevolent society gave its twenty fourth annual ball at Turn Halle. It was a most enjoyable event and a fitting close for the day's festivities.

SEAMEN'S BETHEL AT TACOMA

An Effort to Get Chaplain Stubbs to take Charge of the Work

In response to the call for a union meeting in the opera house Sunday night a large crowd gathered, the object being to discuss the project of establishing a Bethel in the city of Tacoma, says the Ledger. General J. W. Sprague, president of the Seamen's Friend Society, presided. Besides addresses by local ministers, there was one by Chaplain Stubbs of Portland, a veteran in the Bethel work. He stated that the society in New York would pay $40 per month towards supporting a Bethel in Tacoma if the citizens would supply $40 more. After the address a collection was taken up besides pledges to a considerable amount monthly. The balance of the required amount was raised Tuesday by Mr Howell and Chaplain Stubbs, and the Bethel is now an assured thing. There is a move on foot to extend a call to Chaplain Stubbs to take charge of the Bethel, as his enthusiasm in the cause has pleased the people there.

It is thought he can be excused in Portland ... for his transfer to Tacoma, a petition signed by all the directors of the Tacoma Seamen's Friend Society and a long list of the prominent citizens will be secured and forwarded to the American Seamen's Friend Society of New York, expressing their earnest wish to have Chaplain Stubbs transferred to Puget Sound.

THE O R & N PROPOSED LEASE

A late number of the New York Daily Stockholder has the following:

The Oregon Railway and Navigation company and Northern Pacific are still unable to agree upon terms for the proposed lease. It is understood that the latter offers a guarantee of 5 per cent dividends on the stock of the former company for three years, and 6 per cent. thereafter in perpetuity. The demand of the Oregon Railway stockholders is 6 per cent for the first three years and 7 per cent there after. The Oregon stockholders are firm in their demand of 7 per cent after the preliminary period of three years, claiming that the road is capable of earning this rate of dividend if operated independently in connection with the two lines now seeking control. They insist that the present is not a wise time for leasing the road to the reason that traffic is light in consequence of the business depression and is specially disturbed by the heavy snows of the season. They perhaps also foresee that the surrendering of traffic connections with the Union Pacific may be followed by a parallel road by the Oregon Short Line to the Pacific coast that would so divide the traffic as to cause the Northern Pacific to evade its agreement and leave the Railway and Navigation company to sustain a competition that would remove the last opportunity of the latter company for earning even a low rate of dividend upon its stock. ... through lines ... blunder ... So long as the Railway and Navigation company maintains control of its own road it is in a position to secure the through traffic of both the Northern Pacific and the Oregon Short Line, and a fair division of earnings. The control of its own property would secure to it the local traffic of the state, and a commanding influence over through business, and should enable the company to earn all it has upon its present capital stock.

FIRST RESIGNATION FROM OREGON

On returning from Puget sound last night the following was received by Chaplain Stubbs:

WILL THE GAS COMPANY STICK TO ITS NEW PROPOSITION?

PORTLAND, March 17, 1885.

To THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

We had prepared and intended to publish a statement showing in detail the present cost of lighting this city, which is $11,312.80 a year, and also in it the lowest bids submitted last December, which would amount to $10,420.80 a year, and if six foot burners were used to $20,322.80 a year. One proposition was for $16,000 a year, which was modified by the committee so as to be $18,000. If the council chose to give the electric lights burning all night.

But to-day the gas company submit a proposition to the city to furnish gas for the ... burners, at $2.25 on the so-called moonlight schedule.

At $2.25 a month per lamp this would be for the gas lamps now in use $8,... a year.

The lowest bids for lighting the present coal oil lamps exclusively would cost $6,... a year, which added to the amount to be paid the gas company under its present proposition (to-wit $8,... as they would make the total cost of lighting the city under such arrangement for a year $14,... 80.

Is the gas company really in earnest? Will they make the contract, if so, will the veto of the mayor be sustained? At this late moment, after having secured the veto of the mayor and finding that they could not coerce or otherwise influence the council men to sustain the veto, it has submitted this last proposition to kill the ordinance, if possible. The gas company claims the sum of four dollars per month for each gas lamp burning, now under the present moonlight schedule. The city is at present largely in arrears to it. Is it not to their interest to prevent competition and keep the present rates in force?

Last July they submitted a proposition to light gas lamps for three dollars a month. Has it not since repudiated its own proposition and refused to accept warrants drawn at that rate? That was done in order to prevent competition in city lighting. Is it any more in earnest now than then? Will it accept less than four dollars a month for past services for which Portland is now in arrears to it for a period longer than a year?

The gas company has had a monopoly of lighting both public and private in Portland for the past twenty years. The rates are still higher than in any city outside of Oregon. Fears of competition have lately caused it to reduce somewhat its enormously high rates. Will the council once more trust to the good faith of the gas company? Will the city assist the gas company to shut out all competition?

Our proposition was made in good faith. It was lower than any reliable proposition submitted. We propose to light Portland better than it ever has been, better than it can be lighted by the gas company. We have asked but a small profit. The gas company may put its rates lower—so low as to lose money. It can spend thousands of dollars to shut out competition. But if it ever gets the field to itself again it will make up its losses out of Portland and its inhabitants.

We submit this to the public and ask the council to consider well the merits of the case before voting on the measure to-night.

The United States Electric Lighting and Power Company, by P. J. MORAN, Superintendent.

Crops in California.

Sacramento Record Union.

There is probably 15 per cent. less of acreage to grain in California this year than last. Our crop reports published yesterday show that rain is needed in all parts of the state. A heavy drenching rain would prove of no injury to any growth. Two inches precipitation within ten days means millions of gain to California, and the absence of it will work great damage. Late-sown grain especially must suffer without it.

WE MUST
[illegible]

Our present stock many thousands of dollars.

Our store is the largest in this city, but too small to hold all our goods now here and en route.

The surplus must be disposed of, and we wish to again call attention to this matter, and to emphasize the fact that the stock displayed is the best and cheapest ever offered in this market.

RESTAURANT, HOTEL AND HOUSEKEEPERS

Are informed that we have just received 98 crates of White Granite and Decorated Crockery, direct from Liverpool, and our stock being already too large, we are offering articles in this line at a very slight advance on invoice rates.

OUR LAMP STOCK

Cannot be equaled on this coast for completeness in variety and cheapness. Our rich Gold, Ebony and French Bronze Library Lamps and Chandeliers evidently meet all requirements, judging from the continued demand and large sales both in the city and country.

We are not silversmiths, but any one would naturally think so, looking at the number of Elegant Casters, Water and Cream Pitchers, Knives, Forks and Spoons, etc., that glisten in our show-cases and adorn our shelves. We keep only the BEST goods of the latest patterns.

IN CRYSTAL

We can meet the wishes of the most fastidious taste, our stock embracing the Finest Cut Glassware, both plain and engraved, as well as all other articles for table or common use. Call and see.

Notice to the Public.

I HAVE THIS DAY DISPOSED OF MY DIAmond Watch and Jewelry business, at the corner of First and Morrison streets to Mr ALBERT FELDENHEIMER, who has been in my employ for the past eight years. In retiring from the business I have been engaged in for the past seventeen years in Portland I wish to express my grateful acknowledgments for the generous patronage bestowed upon me, and take pleasure in recommending my successor as an honorable business man every way worthy of public confidence.

I will still be found at my old place, where I will be happy to see my friends. And I especially urge those indebted to me to settle as early as possible. Bills will be receipted by myself or Mr Albert Feldenheimer.
B. L. STONE.

Portland Oregon March 6 1885.

Referring to the above, I desire in assuming the proprietorship of this establishment to say that I shall use my best effort to maintain the high reputation Mr Stone has given to it and will endeavor to entitle myself to the liberal patronage he has enjoyed. The house will retain the name, "STONE'S JEWELRY STORE," by which it has been so favorably known.

I have perfected arrangements to import my stock direct, thus saving the commissions and profits of middlemen for the benefit of my customers. A large addition of new goods will immediately be made to my already large stock and no pains will be spared to keep even with the times in the matter of variety, quality, styles and prices.

ALBERT FELDENHEIMER,
(Successor to B. L. STONE)
Cor. First and Morrison Sts.,
Portland, Oregon.

Orders from the Country addressed to ALBERT FELDENHEIMER, or STONE'S JEWELRY STORE, will receive prompt attention.

The only way to build up Home Manufacture is to purchase goods made in Oregon in preference to those imported. The goods manufactured by the Brownsville Woolen Mills can be had at their Retail Store No 168 First st., consisting of Men's, Youths' and Boys Clothing, Blankets, Flannels, etc.

P. G. GAUDON, the well known experienced Cutter and Tailor, has been employed in connection with the above store and any person who so desires can have the Substantial and Excellent Goods of the Brownsville Woolen Mills made up to order and a fit guaranteed.

FREIGHTS—The disengaged list has been increased by late arrivals and now consists of five iron and two wooden vessels registering 6 230 tons. At this time this is a very large list. There is no request for tonnage and business must be slow. The enroute list is down to 14 830 tons 1 593 of which is doubtful.

WHEAT—Cables report slow markets under slack demand yet there is no new weakness. Chicago opened above yesterday's closing prices but fell off later in the day. Our own market is utterly devoid of new interest holders maintaining their position and shippers working slowly.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, March 17.—Governments quiet and a shade lower for 4½ per cents registered, others unchanged. Railways quiet and lower. Trading at the stock exchange to-day until the final hour of the board was the dullest this year. The only stock which at that time was pressed for sale was Union Pacific. Among damaging reports in circulation in regard to this company was one to the effect that the forthcoming report of the United States railroad commissioner to the department of the interior would show that there had been an increase of about $2,000,000 in the floating debt of the company during the last six months of last year. The difficulties between the Central and Union Pacific and the published statement that the former had refused to receive freight at Ogden from the Union Pacific except at local rates were also used by the bears.

A downward movement in Horn Silver was the special feature of the mining market this morning. The price fell to $2 85 per share on sales of 42 shares. This price is $1 70 lower than the lowest price of 1884 and $2 65 lower than the lowest of 1883. 200 Consolidated Pacific sold at 03, and 00 Little Chief at 25.

ITEMS FROM THE DALLES

THE DALLES, March 16.

The steam ferry, which was laid up last week for repairs, is again making regular trips.

I Selling, who has been in the general merchandise business here for several years has closed out, and took his departure for Portland Sunday morning.

The train dispatcher's office of the O R & N Co, which was formerly on First street has been moved to the freight depot. The offices of the company have recently been remodeled and put in good repair.

Suit has been commenced in the circuit court by the Wasco Warehouse Company against the O R & N Co, to determine whether or not the latter is under obligations, as a common carrier, to furnish cars to the former at their warehouse.

The flag of the K of P was at half mast last Wednesday, in respect to the memory of John W Barkhouse, formerly of this place, who died in Sacramento on the 20th of February. News of his death was not received here until last Wednesday.

At the recent school meeting George H Knaggs was elected school clerk to succeed F A Hudson. A tax of 3 mills was voted, that being 2 mills less than last year, and it was decided to have school only nine months instead of ten, as heretofore.

The jury summoned to attend the next term of the circuit court for this county is taken both from this and Gilliam county, just the same as if the entire territory of the two were included in Wasco as of old. What complications this may give rise to will be an interesting question. Several important criminal cases will be tried, at least one of which would come within the jurisdiction of the circuit court for Gilliam county if the bill creating that county is to be recognized.

A MURDERER HUNG

PHILADELPHIA, March 17.—Charles Briggs, the wife murderer, was hanged in the corridor of the county prison this morning. Briggs killed his wife July 7, 1883. He had been on a prolonged spree, came home, called his wife down cellar, and cut her throat with a razor. He was arrested almost in the act.

The new steel steamer for the Newport Company will probably be launched in a few days. When finished the vessel will be put on the route between Mussel and San Francisco.

Messrs. Clough & Duncan, owners of the [illegible] gan quartz mine, near Spring [illegible] county have been at work all winter and have [illegible] tons of valuable ore on the [illegible] dump ready for crushing.

Lottersville is the name of a new town the prospective county seat that has just been [illegible] out at Summit springs, on the [illegible] road thirty five miles south of [illegible] Fifty blocks have been surveyed into lots and [illegible] of ground has been reserved for county buildings.

There is a beautiful country on the west side of Goose lake, near the mouth of [illegible] creek, that has been named by the inhabitants [illegible] Ridge. This country was, a few months ago, all vacant government land, considered worthless, except for sheep range. Now farms can be seen in all directions, men are busily engaged in plowing and sowing, building houses and fences, grubbing up the sage brush, and trying to make "the desert blossom like the rose."

As Porter Slate was crossing the Calapooia a few days ago on a bridge, which he had constructed for gaining access to a part of his farm, he found the creek had risen during the night and the bridge covered with water. Misjudging its depth he drove in, but the swift current swept his horses, and wagon containing three plows, down the stream. The horses succeeded in gaining the bank, but were unable to climb out with the wagon attached to them and were soon drowned. Mr. Slate also barely escaped drowning.

WASHINGTON

The masons of Walla Walla will build a hall soon.

A large sawmill is to be built in Shuslerville this summer.

Odd Fellows at Renton are building a new hall, two stories high.

Contractor Bennett will commence laying fifteen miles of track out of South prairie about April 1.

[illegible] reports the establishing of a new mining district in Stevens county, known as the Summit mining district.

A loaded freight wagon was robbed of its contents on the Cowlitz a few days ago, nearly $300 worth being taken.

The third annual encampment of the G A R of the department of Washington territory will convene at Vancouver on Wednesday April 15, 1885.

Edmund Osgoodby of Mount Vernon, while out hunting the other day, shot and killed two swans which measured six feet from the tips of their bills to the ends of their tails. They weighed 22½ pounds apiece.

Joseph Comstock, assessor and census taker of Kitsap county, states that the population of his county will show an increase this year of about 600 souls over 1883. Its number will be about 2700. The assessment will be almost the same as last year's.

The bodies of Mrs Mary Jillson and two children who were drowned in Applegate creek, near Kerbyville several weeks since, were recovered last week. The boy was only a mile below the place of the accident, while the mother and daughter were within half a mile of each other, eighteen miles down the stream.

BRITISH COLUMBIA.

The schooner Minnie, owned by Ah Lee, a Chinaman, and built by Captain W Moore for the Stickeen river trade in the early days, left on a trading trip about one month ago for the islands lying between the mainland and Vancouver island and above Nanaimo. The crew consisted of the captain, Ah Lee another Chinaman and Mrs Ah Lee. Everything went well on the trip up, and she was returning loaded down with deerskins, fish oil and furs when they cast anchor one evening in a small bay near Comox. In the morning a gale sprung up and the schooner, which was nothing but a rotten tub, parted the chain and went ashore and fell to pieces. Furs and oil to the value of $2,000 were lost. The crew took to their boat and arrived in Nanaimo after an eight days' journey.

The different schooners destined for the sealing grounds are being supplied with the necessary supplies at Victoria, preparatory to starting on the season's trip. Schooners Favorite, Kate and Onward, owned by Spring & Co, the Carolina Ly Munsie, and steam-schooner Anna Beck, by Captain Warren & Co, have been gone a few days. About the latter part of this week Captain Warren & Co will send the steam schooners Grace, Thornton and Dolphin, and schooner Rustler, Spring & Co, the Alfred Adams. Captain Lang will take the W. P. Sayward. Mountain Chief, Black Diamond, and probably the Juanita, will also be dispatched in a few days. These are destined for the west coast of Vancouver island, and will probably not return before the middle of June. Schooner Mary Ellen, Spring & Co, left San Francisco in January last and is hunting seals along the coast. She will probably touch there in May, on the way to Behring sea.

IDAHO

About 100 men are at work in and about the Ellensburg mines.

Miss Maggie Stewart of Payette, niece of William Stewart and sister of Mrs. Frank Nesbit, committed suicide last Friday by hanging. She was living at Mr Nesbit's, seven or eight miles below Falks' store, on the north side of Payette. No cause was assigned for the deed.

The mines in the immediate vicinity of Murray have produced many nuggets from a half to two and three ounces in weight, but it has remained for the Ives and Silverthorn claim to open the present season with something better, and Wednesday morning it came to the front with a seven and a half ounce chunk. The slug had been struck with a pick and several small pieces broken off, which were afterwards picked up. There is considerable quartz mixed with it, of a very dark color, and the gold is of a rusty nature, giving the piece an uninviting appearance. Reduced to coin it would bring perhaps $110.

MONTANA

John Lord, an employe at the D[illegible] mine, at Marysville, was instantly killed last Thursday by an explosion of giant powder. A number of men were drying a large amount of giant powder when it exploded killing Ford, and severely injuring a number of the workmen.

THE NEFF CASE

PORTLAND, March 17.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

[illegible] the Neff case [illegible] manifest effort [illegible] with to shield one of the most rascally schemes [illegible] and to complete the spoliation of [illegible] by myself and Mr Gardner. The article [illegible] Mr Gardner [illegible] Neffs [illegible] This is false [illegible] which appears in the evidence. So far as Woodward is concerned he never represented the [illegible] that these counties could be set up after the [illegible] Mrs Neff to submit. When we took up the case [illegible] the Neffs Woodward made no objection at first [illegible] afterwards when it was [illegible] the attack of the Neffs [illegible] after Budd had paid him more than [illegible] according to Budd's sworn testimony.

Criticism of a pending case is not proper. Were it not for the respectable position of your paper I perhaps would allow the misrepresentations to go unchallenged. Just how far it is proper to protect one's clients in the press prior to a final decision is not clearly defined. But since [illegible] for the spoliators and lawyers [illegible] Wells and others has seen fit to make public [illegible] these [illegible] all false statements and all false inferences [illegible] his article.

A brief statement of certain matters relating to the case will simplify the situation.
